Last Sunday during worship, we heard the familiar story of the prodigal son. In this story an impulsive child demands his share of the inheritance, he leaves home and proceeds to wastefully spend his new found money on an extravagant lifestyle. When the money is gone, he returns home to beg his father to allow him to become a servant...but instead his father welcomes him home with open arms.

In some way we are all this prodigal child that God has welcomed home. But it is not enough for us to simply enjoy the love of our Father, it is our responsibility to help others find their way home by sharing God's love for them. We showed this love in a very practical way during our worship service last Sunday by bringing blankets to donate to Kentucky Refugee Ministries.

Kentucky Refugee Ministries is literally working to help people find their way home after they have been displaced from their native countries because of war, famine, or other struggles few of us could imagine. Together we donated 102 blankets on Sunday alone to KRM. The blankets we donated will help these refugees feel safe and warm as they resettle in Louisville, and it will help them feel the welcoming embrace of God.

But our challenge to give back out of all we've received from God doesn't end with KRM. It continues this Sunday as we challenge you to bring in Baby Wipes to donate to Meriday – our Preschool – which is currently providing childcare for 107 children. You can learn more about Meriday Wednesday night at 6pm. And don't forget to bring your Baby Wipes Sunday morning as we attempt to top our giving from last week.
