The Pastor's Pen

Where shall I begin? That's often a Saturday morning question when we go outside to look at the yard. Mow? Trim? Weed? Plant? Repair? Go back to bed? It's the question we face when we have any new undertaking. It is the one I asked on the first Monday I came to the church. It's the question we ask when we decide to become more involved in our church or do a better job with what we have committed to do.

It didn't take long for me to get energized by the smiling, happy faces of the children coming into Meriday. Getting acquainted with the staff and seeing these bright-eyed, friendly kids has been a delightful beginning. I look forward to meeting and getting to know their parents in the coming days.

In less than 2 weeks, July 6-9, the building will be buzzing with children in Vacation Bible School. The theme is: Real Teamwork, Real Service, Real Fun. There may be no more important week in the year for the church to minister to these young lives. Put them on your prayer list. By the way, this is a place you could renew your involvement. Several helpers (2 each day) are needed for the nursery (children of faculty). At least four workers are needed to assist teachers with older kids. Give Michelle Cloud a call or email to let her know you want to help.

Good progress is being made on the goals you set at the end of April. The Taskforce is leading a "town hall" meeting on June 24. Come hear what is happening. Help this process continue to move forward. More dialogue sessions are planned for informing us and receiving congregational input. One of the goals concerns the church's vision. It is important to have a broad understanding and strong consensus for the Vision Statement of Melbourne Heights. This was done several years ago and it is appropriate to revisit it now.

So, a beginning has started. I am optimistic and excited about what the Lord will do among us. Pray for one another. Encourage each other. Please join me in a commitment to a new day!
