Hard to believe, isn't it, frost on the pumpkin? After one of the hottest and driest summers in Louisville history, Fall has finally arrived. I love the crisp air in the mornings. Some folks don't like the cooler weather, but to me it is an indication that good days are ahead for the church.

One sign of good days is that after lower attendance in summer months, we can get back to serious business. Outreach opportunities are much better when we have the fall events and activities up through Christmas to which we can invite folks. But this kind of outreach comes through your personal contact and invitation to neighbors, family, friends, and co-workers. It is only as affective as you make it.

Another indicator of good days is the approval of our new Leadership Team and committees. I have been talking with the chair of our Evangelism Committee about organizing outreach. It will require training and organizing of that committee along with other ministries in our church in order to be effective. We don't know exactly what form our outreach ministry will take. We will be developing this ministry over the next few months and finding ways that work best for our church as we reach out to the community.
